Seminar Topic : Evolution of Art and Architecture : Special Reference to the Mughal India

Objective of the Seminar

The objective of studying the evolution of art and architecture, with special reference to Mughal India, is to explore the distinct fusion of Persian, Indian and Central Asian influences that shaped the Mughal aesthetic. This analysis seeks to understand how Mughal emperors, particularly Akbar, Jahangir and Shah Jahan, promoted architectural innovation, leading to iconic structures like the Taj Mahal and Red Fort. Additionally, it aims to examine the intricacies of Mughal miniature painting, the use of symmetry, garden designs and decorative arts. Understanding these elements sheds light on the cultural, religious and political contexts that influenced the artistic and architectural legacy of Mughal India, which remains a significant aspect of India's heritage.
