Objective of “Ethical Issues in Calculation and Filing of Income Tax” :

The objective of examining “ethical issues in the calculation and filing of income tax” is to promote transparency, fairness and integrity in tax practices. Taxpayers and professionals must ensure accurate reporting of income and deductions, avoiding intentional evasion or misrepresentation. Ethical tax practices foster trust between individuals, businesses and tax authorities, contributing to the overall welfare of society by ensuring that the government collects the necessary revenue for public services. Additionally, addressing ethical issues helps prevent fraud, corruption and illegal tax avoidance schemes. This objective encourages taxpayers to comply with the law while balancing their financial interests with their moral responsibilities, ultimately ensuring a fair and just tax system for all stakeholders. The present Seminar on the topic above helps enriching the participants the development of their skills on it.
